Extensive relaunch of the CHARGE&FUEL app: LOGPAY optimizes its fuel & charging app.

Eschborn, 14/11/2023 - the new version of the CHARGE&FUEL app with significantly enhanced functionalities is online.

The CHARGE&FUEL refueling and charging app, the ideal companion for on the go, now shines in new splendor. The app has been completely overhauled in recent months. Version 7.0.0 is now available for CHARGE&FUEL customers in the relevant app stores. Users of the app benefit not only from a modern and tidy design and an optimized user experience, but also from a variety of new functions. These will considerably simplify the refuelling and charging process as well as all organizational aspects.

One notable new feature is the ability to compare nearby filling station prices in the practical list view. This function not only saves time, but also enables users to select the most economical refueling option.

The revised CHARGE&FUEL app allows users to see whether charging points are available for their exact plug type based on their filtered plug type. This feature makes it easier for electric vehicle owners to quickly find the right charging station for their vehicle model, resulting in a more efficient charging process.

To give users always full control over their charging process, a new function has been added to display the charging process in progress. This real-time information provides transparency and ensures that vehicle owners are always informed about the progress of their charging process.

The app now supports the addition of multiple LOGPAY cards. This means that users have more flexibility and choice when paying for their charging and refueling sessions. The digital payment service MOBILE FUELING also features significantly improved performance and stability in the new version.

The relaunch of the CHARGE&FUEL app now enables Audi and VW drivers to log in seamlessly with their Audi ID or VW ID. This integration facilitates access to the app and ensures that users can access all functions quickly and conveniently.

The latest version of the CHARGE&FUEL app is now available to download from the app stores.
