

PRESS RELEASE

LOGPAY sets new standards: direct reimbursement for charging company cars at home.

- Simple reimbursement of private electricity costs for company car drivers
- Direct payment of charging costs via LOGPAY
- Reduced effort and full control over costs and consumption for fleet managers and drivers

Eschborn, 27/06/2024 - With the Home Charging Service Basic, fleet managers can already process the payment of their company car drivers' home charging processes via their payroll accounting. With the optimized version of the Home Charging Service Comfort, customers now have an extended version with direct payment via LOGPAY.

The Home Charging Service Comfort enables company car drivers who charge their electric or plug-in hybrid vehicles at home to have the private electricity costs incurred reimbursed conveniently and easily by their employer. All that is needed is the Charge&Fuel Card, the corresponding Basic or Comfort home charging package and the corresponding Volkswagen Group wallbox with integrated MID electricity meter. The monthly fee for both Home Charging packages is €4.50 per card.

With the Home Charging Comfort package, the payment process is now simpler. Previously, fleet managers had to arrange payment themselves, e.g. as part of payroll accounting, for the private charging costs incurred by their company car drivers. With the new Comfort Package, payment is made directly from LOGPAY to the company car drivers.

Comfort package, payment is made directly from LOGPAY to the company car drivers.

This significantly reduces the billing effort for both fleet managers and company car drivers. Business charging processes carried out at home can be easily assigned and both fleet managers and company car drivers have full control over charging costs and charging consumption.

The innovation underlines LOGPAY's ambition to provide a seamless mobility offering at all levels that is convenient and simple for everyone involved.
